The CNA did not remove her gloves before assisting the resident with sitting on the toilet, putting on a new brief and pants, retrieving a wash cloth for the resident to use to clean his/her face, and retrieving the oxygen cannula that had fallen on the floor. While still wearing the soiled gloves, the CNA placed the resident's drink in the refrigerator, placed the cleaned oxygen cannula on the resident's face, | S5008                                                                                | Quality Management Committee quarterly for review; and corrective action if necessary until resolved.                    |  |                                                      |
